Total Care with safety as our top priority

REYM specializes in industrial cleaning and operates with modern equipment and advanced cleaning technologies. REYM employs various techniques, including chemical cleaning, ultrasonic cleaning, and automated cleaning. This enables us to provide a safe, customized solution for every cleaning requirement.

REYM has the appropriate facilities and permits to fully relieve its clients of all concerns. When on-site cleaning at the client's location would have too much impact on operations, the cleaning can take place at one of REYM's dedicated cleaning sites. In such cases, REYM manages the entire process; from disassembling components at the client's site, through transportation to the cleaning facility, thorough cleaning, and finally the reinstallation of the equipment. All necessary resources, materials, and equipment are readily available at the cleaning facility, ensuring that each cleaning process can be carried out efficiently and safely.

Flexible and Versatile

The new cleaning facility in Sittard covers an area of 650 m² and is designed to accommodate multiple cleaning processes simultaneously. Thanks to several separate cabins, various tasks can be carried out in parallel, making the facility suitable for clients from different industries.

Before each cleaning job, REYM carefully assesses which substances may be released during the process. The company holds the necessary permits to accept and handle specific waste materials. Once the client's product information is known, it is determined whether the substances involved fall within the scope of these permits.

If substances are identified that cannot be processed under REYM's own permits, they are safely collected and transported by REYM's own vehicles to a certified external processor.
